Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 26-28 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neary (6,338,409). Neary discloses a storage container (10) comprising a cover (14) having a continuous wall structure (22-26), a storage chamber (16) having a base (18) that engages with the cover to completely enclose an article (28) and a plurality of columns (60) integrally formed with the storage chamber and disposed within the storage chamber and the columns are orthogonal to the base to restrict movement of each article stored within the storage chamber. Neary also discloses the other claimed limitations except for the container being cylindrical. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in view of Neary to modify the container so the container comprises a cylindrical container includes a cylindrical cover to allow the container to hold various shapes of articles such as a circular article and because a change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

3. Claims 26-28 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gallagher (5,248,035). Gallagher discloses a storage container (10) comprising a cover (12) having a continuous wall structure (26), a storage chamber (14) having a base (36) that engages with the cover to completely enclose an article and a plurality of columns (52) integrally formed with the storage chamber and disposed within the storage chamber and the columns are orthogonal to the base to restrict movement of each article stored within the storage chamber. Gallagher also discloses the other claimed limitations except for the container being cylindrical. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in view of Gallagher to modify the container so the container comprises a cylindrical container includes a cylindrical cover to allow the container to hold various shapes of articles such as a circular article and because a change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-25 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to 1/3/2005 have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 3728

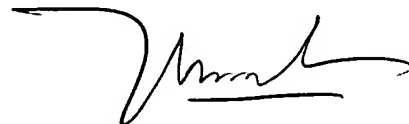

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
